Charles singled to This proved a good move, as Leifield worked like a machine and mowed then a control worked like a machine and mowed then a control when making the second game of the series. It was not make a machine and mowed then a control when the particular feat was his effectiveness when the enemy occupied the bases, and time and again when a little single would mean a Quaker tally, he struck out the batter and the hope was a forlorn one. He also got busy in the ninth inning with the stick, and his clean cut single just ahead of Clark's slashing double permitted him to score the second run for the Pirates.

The particular feat was his effectiveness when the enemy occupied the base on balls followed by two hits, which gave the Cubs one run. He was a stumbling block to the world's champions and did not allow them to score again while he was in the box. Chappelle went in to pitch in the ninth and the visitors fell to his delivery for three hits and two gifts, which netted them four runs and cinched the game.

John Leonard, Aged Iron Manufacturer, Is Mysteriously Killed in His Home at Montclair, N. J.

EXAMINED WEAPON THAT HIS EMPLOYEE "FOUND."

Only Witness of Tragedy in Montclair Home Declares It Was an Accident-Wife and Niece of Victim Heard Shot From Adjoining Room.

John Leonard, a millionaire iron manufacturer, with offices in the Singer Building and for years a well-known figure in the business world of New York, was shot through the heart and almost instantly killed at 10 o'clock to-day by a revolver which his secretary, Walter C. Phillips, says he was handing him to examine.

Leonard is President of the Manhattan Rolling Mills. Phillips was placed under arrest after a police investigation of the affair.

The shooting took place in the library of Mr. Leonard's Montclair home, at No. 88 Maple avenue. His wife, her niece and a trained nurse. who has been attending Mr. Leonard, who is eighty years old and an invalid, were talking in the next room when they heard the shot.
